LATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

-A long list of fatalities are reported from the effects of the late cyclone. -Henry C. Gordon, of Indiana, has been ap-pointed a special agent of the General Land Office.

-Jack Hickey, the pugilist, became involved in a dispute with a Cork "jarvey" (jaunting car driver), which ended in a fight. Hickey struck the driver a powerful blow in the face, breaking his jaw and inflicting other injuries from the effects of which the driver died. Hickey was arrested and remanded on a charge of mansiaughter.

-Krewolf, the treasurer of Mr. Charles H. Hoyt's Brass Monkey Company, who skipped out with $5,000 of the money which he had in his possession at the time the piece was presented at the Park Theater about a month ago, has been heard from in Washington Territory, and it is said he can be arrested at any time the Boston police give the word and this will soon be done. Mr. Hoyt is in town for the purpose of giving evidence before the grand jury.

REV. THOS. T. EVANS WRETCHED CONDITION.

Statement Which Carries Conviction With It-Marvelous Effects of Dr. Smith's Magnetic Treatment

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

AT 502 PENN AVENUE

The Rev. Thomas T. Evans, late paster-elect of the First Baptist Church at Banksville, Pa., has been a confirmed invalid since 1881. For the past eight years he has been afflicted with rheumatism more or less of the time, and for the past three years his sufferings have been so terrible that life had become a burden to him. He complained of tearing, aching pains all through his body. His stomach became the seat of horrible neuralgic pains, which ex-tended through to his back and radiated from there to his shoulder blades. The pain came on in paroxyams, which increased in violence until his body was bent double. The pain was usually aggravated after eating, and would continue unabated until every particle of food passed out of his stomach. As soon as the stomach became empty he complained of a faint, all-gone feeling in it. His bowels were obstinately constipated, and were only moved by taking cathartics. He suffered from an aching, tearing pain in the small of the back, palpitation of the heart and sharp stitching pain in his side. Mr. Evans had suffered so long without finding relief that he had given up all hopes of recovery, and when we consider his terrible condition we do not wonder that he had little if any faith that Dr. Smith would benefit his condition. Remember that he had suffered eight years with rhounaber that he had suffered eight years with rhounatism, which was associated with dyspepsia, constipation and neuralgia of the stomach in an aggravated form. Spasms of pain in his stomach and bowels would seize him and bend his body double. These horrible pains would continue without intermission until his body was bathed in profuse perspiration and until ho would faint from exhaustion. In this pitiable condition he applied to Dr. Smith, the magnetic physician, at No. 562 Penn ave. After three magnetic treatments in connection with a little medicine, Mr. Evans could eat without distress, sleep well, and go about from day to day with never a sense of weariness or distress. Rev. Mr. Evans stated in Dr. Smith's office last Saturday that when he applied to Dr. Smith that language was inadequate to express the horrible torture he was undergoing. He says that Dr. Smith's treatment gave him the first relief from suffering that he has had during his entire illness. Mr. Evans may be reterred to at his present residence, No. 28 Eighth street, Belizhoover, Pa., and will cheerfully vouch for the truthfulness of this statoment. Dr. Smith is permanently located at 562 Penn ave., and consults free from 9 A. M. until 7 P. M. He cures after all other means fail. In the treatment of piles, fistulæ, constipation, fissured, cauarrh of the bla usually aggravated after eating, and would continue unabated until every particle of food inquiry must contain two stamps. If you or any of your friends are sick, do not give up in despair until you see Dr. Smith.

LIGHT RUN OF CATTLE, PRICES UP.

Poor Stockers Not Wanted, But Good Feeders Are in Demand.

SHEEP STEADY AND HOGS DECLINING

OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCE, WEDNESDAY, May 8, 1889.

The run of cattle has been between 65 and 20 leads, against 92 last week and 95 the wreek before. A decline of 20 to 25 loads from the ordinary receipts never fails to stimulate trade. This has been the experisence this week. There has been an advance all along the line, and on some choice butcher stock the advance has been 25c per bundred, and, according to some dealers' views, even more. The bulk of the supplies were from Chicago. Those from the country were much mixed as to quality, ranging from very common to good only. The demand was strongest for light butcher stock of good quality and fat, weighing from 1,000 to 1,170 pounds. The range of prices for this grade was $3 80 to $4 15. grade was $3 80 to $4 15.

A few bunches of prime cattle, weighing from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds, brought from $4 25 to $4 60. Poor stockers had hard work finding buyers at any price. Good feeders were in demand at $8 60 to $5 75. For the latter class there was a good number of buyers, and more could have been sold at outside quotations.

A leading East Liberty stockman, who has spent the past week in Western Ohio among stock farmers, says: "I found cattlemen generally disposed to hold back their stock from markets in the belief that they would after a while be able to get better prices. Grass and while be able to get better prices. Grass and corn are so abundant that farmers are disposed to feed their stock a little longer, believing that there is bound to be a turn upward soon. I am of the opinion that these farmers see through a glass darkly, and that their great expectations are donesided in the proposition of the proposition of the proposition of the proposition of the opinion that their great expectations are donesided to disconnection of the proposition of the propositi a glass darkly, and that their great expectations are doomed to disappointment. Time only will tell which is right, but my advice to farmers would be to accept the situation and place cattle on the market."

All stockmen notice the absence of heavy prime cattle from markets this season. The competition with dressed beef has forced our home butchers to buy light weights. Hence the wants of our home trade demand a beef that will not go above 1,200 pounds, and $4 to the 100.

There were very few cattle at East Liberty ands this week above 1,200 pounds, and none nat could be traced as high as 1,500 pounds in weight. The run of calves was the lightest for a month past, and markets were decidedly bet-ter. A few bunches of extras were sold this morning for 41/2c. A deck of common brought

With a larger run this week than last, prices held up fairly well. Some dealers report that prices were a shrade better than last week. But advices from New York markets were not such as to give strength to the advance. Said an old-time deal er: "I wish our farmers would keep their priceless mutton at home, and get the best they an for it there. So many thin sheep are dur aped on to our market that trade is demorally ad, and good grades suffer more or less. The trouble has been for weeks past that large quan tities of a poor quality of sheep and lambs have been coming to market. These are a drag at any price. There is bardly anything meaner conceivable in the live stock line than a poor sheep.

Su pplies continue light, but demand corresprads. Fresh pork has departed from most of, butchers' stalls. Packers are slow to buy at present rates, as they claim there is no money to them at prices. The range at Liberty to-day was $4 90 to $4 95. A few extras sold at $5 00. The outside price at Chicago to-day was $4 80. Our packers are strong in the faith that hogs must come down and products go up.

MARKETS BY WIRE.

Wheat Active, Higher and Firm on Better Foreign Demand and Rain in the Northwest - Corn, Oats and Pork Strenger.

CHICAGO—Wheat was moderately active and firm to-day. May was advanced 3%c under a demand from the shorts, and closed about 13%c higher than yesterday, and June sympathized to some extent, advancing 1½c, and closed about ½c higher than yesterday. There were reports of pretty good rains throughout the Northwest last night and this morning, and while, perhaps, the Northwest could stand more rain the present fall will do some good and in some sections relieve the fear of drouth. But the firmness which developed was due to the rather active buying at the seaboard, some 36 boat loads in all being taken at New York yesterday, and purchases to-day were increase from 4 loads early to 14 loads later. This would indicate that foreign buyers want our wheat, and had a decidedly strengthening our wheat, and had a decidedly strengthening effect upon the market. There was pretty free selling on the early advance, which caused a reaction from top prices then reached, some of the prominent large traders being credited with being free sellers, but the wheat was absorbed by some one, and withal a strong undertone existed. Shorts covered rather freely, taking fright at the action of the market, and assisted the turn in prices above 78c for July.

freely, taking fright at the action of the market, and assisted the turn in prices above 78c for July.

Quite active trade was reported in corn and transactions were at higher prices. The feeling developed was stronger, which was attributed largely to the active shipping demand, smaller receipts than anticipated and covering by local shorts. The market opened a shade above closing prices of yesterday, was firm and sold up $46\frac{1}{2}\cdot \cdot \cdo

A comparatively light trade was reported in lard and the market was stronger. Prices were advanced 71/2010c, and the market closed steady.

Quite a good trade was reported in short rib sides. Prices were advanced 2%@5c, and moderately well supported to the close.

THE PIONEER BANK. A Big Bonus for a Charter Refused by the State Legislature. HOW THE DIFFICULTY WAS MET.

Financiering Prosecuted Under Discouraging Giscumstances.

PLUCK AND BRAINS ARE REWARDED

The Bank of Pittsburg, the oldest institution of the kind in the city, is well known in financial circles throughout the length and breadth of the country. Its history has been written so often as to be familiar to almost every citizen, but now and then something new in connection with it is found in old documents or personal reminis-cences which imparts a fresh interest to the story.

The Bank of Pittsburg had its conception in 1810. In that year of commercial gloom and uncertainty, the second of President Madison's administration, Napoleon had issued a decree that all American vessels and cargoes arriving in any of the ports of France or countries occu-pled by French troops must be seized and con-demned. This was revoked soon after by the President's proclamation. But the feeling of dignation, especially against England, and the embargo passed during President Jeffer-son's administration, was followed by a procla-mation of President Madison interdicting ommercial intercourse with Great Britain. At this critical period the manufacturers of Pittsburg, desiring to establish a bank to afford them financial facilities, which were much needed, offered to the Legislature of the State a large bonus as a compensation for the privilege of a charter. An organiza-tion was formed with this object in view, composed of the tollowing named persons: Will-lam Wilkins, President, and Abraham Kirk-patrick, William McCandless, John Darragh, James Martin, Thomas Cromwell, William Woods, Nicholas Cunningham, Ephraim Pentland, Robert Simpson, George Sutton, Henry Fulton, Joseph McClurg, Robert Spencer, Francis B. Holmes, John Scull, Thomas Bracken, William Hays, James Morrison, James Riddle and Jeremiah Barker, directors. They had prepared the form of a bank charter with $1,000,000 capital, and offered to transfer to the State $40,000 of the capital stock, or $20,000 to each of the two proposed bridges across the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, and also $20,000 toward turnpiking the great State road; also $45,000 for such public improvements as the Legislature should approve. The proposal was declined, on the ground that it would be impossible to raise such an amount of capital in the depressed condition of the business in-As an alternative the organization resolved to carry on the business of banking without the aid of the State, and formed an individual liability partnership under the name of "The Pittsburg Manufacturing Company." This was in 1812, the year when war was declared against Great Britain. The association was officered by William Wilkins, President: Alexander Johnston, Jr., Chief Clerk, and George Anshutz, James Morrison, John Darrah, C. Cowan, George Sutton, Thomas Cromwell and James Riddle, directors. The association was eminently successful, being of great benefit to the business men of the city. Besides banking it did a limit in insurance. On July 28, 1812, the first policy was issued to protect a new mansion erected by William Wilkins on the site now occupied by the Monongahela House. In 1814 another and successful effort was ande to obtain a charter for the original project, "The Bank of Pittsburg." It passed the Legislature and was signed by Governor Simon Snyder. The Pittsburg Manufacturing Company was closed up and its books, means and muniments transferred to the Bank of PittsThe price paid, while pretty steep, shows that added. The capital was nominally $600,000, but owing to the scarcity of money in consequence hearty, visiting the bank every day and pre-siding at the directors' meetings. Not one bank officer or director who was in the Bank of Pittsburg or in the Branch Bank of the United States when Mr. Harper entered office is alive to-day. George Shiras, Sr., is the last of the stockholders whose names were en-rolled on the dividend book of 1832. During the falled to pay a semi-annual dividend. An at-tempt was made about 1861 to reorganize the institution under the national banking law, but it falled through the opposition of the female stockholders, who were, and still are, largely in the majority.

ON A BETTER FOOTING. Big Jump-Philadelphia Gas Stronger, The feature of the local stock market yesterday was the strength shown by Pittsburg and Western Railroad preferred stock. It advanced $3.50 a share here and $4 in New York. This was; rightly attributed to the improved condition of the road and consequently increased earnings. It was sparingly offered at the advance and closed strong. Philadelphia Gas was higher and active as the result of a natural reaction from the depression under which ural reaction from the depression under which it had been laboring for several days. The first sale of it was at 35% and the last at 37%. It closed firm at the top price.

Switch and Signal was lower, weak and neglected. The Tractions were practically lifeless, the only movement in them being a sale of 38 shares of Central at 30. Electric was surprisingly weak, owing, it was said, to the uncertainties attending the outcome of the pending itigation. The Mining stocks were scarcely thought of. The total sales amounted to 649 shares. Bids, offers and sales are appended:

The case is one involving the use of what is distribution. The suit was originally brought distribution. The suit was originally brought in Now Jersey, and is to restrain the Westing-house Company from using the system in any part of the United States.

The defendants claim that there is no infringement whatever, and show by a number of patents that the system is an old one. There are now two patents, and each party is limited to the specific claims of their patents. The defendants also claim that their patent is entirely of different construction from that of the plaintiffs. The argument will not be finished for a couple of days.

New York, May 8.—Petroleum opened weak at 83% and declined to 83% on heavy selling by the West. A sharp realization then carried the price up to 83%, but it yielded again and closed steady at 82% of Sales, 1,081,000 barrels. NO WONDER HE'S ACQUITTED. Tried for Months Goes Free.

The Most Innocent and Harmless Old Man In the case of Joel Regelman, of Mercer county, who was put on trial in the United States District Court yesterday, for complicity with James Allen for manufacturing counterfelt money, some funny things were developed. The attorney for the defense set up the plea that Regelman was a man of unsound mind, who was childlike in his manner, and could easily be led into doing right or wrong, on the representation of others.

On this point witnesses were examined, and their restimant went to show that the father of

At one time a traveler came along who convinced Regelman that he was in every way qualified to become a first-class dentist, and, on promise to make him one, secured 2500.

One week's work convinced the prisoner and his tutor that dentistry was not his forte, so he sold the prisoner a patent for "extinguishing files," for which he paid about 2500, and the fly extinguisher proved to be absolutely worthless. Another party sold him a patent washing machine that was nothing more than a few boards nailed together, and of no more value than a scrabbing brush.

It was also shown that the prisoner was the victim of all kinds of sharpers, who fleeced him of his money, and he is now nenniless, with a large family dependent upon him for support. The jury was only out five minutes and returned a verdict of acquittal.
